CERN openlab Open Day <sup>[1]</sup>

Date:

Wednesday, 10 June, 2015 (All day)

Location:

CERN Main Auditorium <sup>[2]</sup>

CERN openlab is proposing a first-of-its-kind ?Open Day? event on 10 June 2015 at CERN in Geneva. This will be the first in a series of annual events at which research and industrial teams from CERN openlab present their projects, share their achievements, and collect feedback from their user communities. More information on the agenda and registration can be found here: <http://indico.cern.ch/e/openlab-openday> <sup>[3]</sup>

Established in 2001, CERN openlab is now entering its fifth three-year phase. This phase addresses new topics crucial to the CERN scientific programme and sees other public research organisations, such as the European Bioinformatics Institute and the GSI Helmholtz Centre for Heavy Ion Research, joining the partnership for the first time.

Topics covered at the Open Day event will include: data-acquisition systems, data storage and management, simulation and analysis, cloud computing, and much more...
