IF CURIOSITY CURES BOREDOM WHAT CURES CURIOSITY?

My Top200 RSS info sources for ethical activism and global research

02 APR

(<http://www.sott.net/article/291441-Bizarro-World>) This post is for all divergent thinkers, critical thinkers, researchers, writers, ethical activists, 'curious cats' and pretty much anyone else interested in trying to find out what's actually going on (<http://johnpilger.com/articles/war-by-media-and-the-triumph-of-propaganda>) in this profit (<https://ovidubernaschi.wordpress.com/2015/03/22/any-intelligent-fool-can-make-profit-and-destroy-the-planet-in-the-process/>) – driven (http://michaelparenti.org/profit_pathology_and_other_indecencies.html)

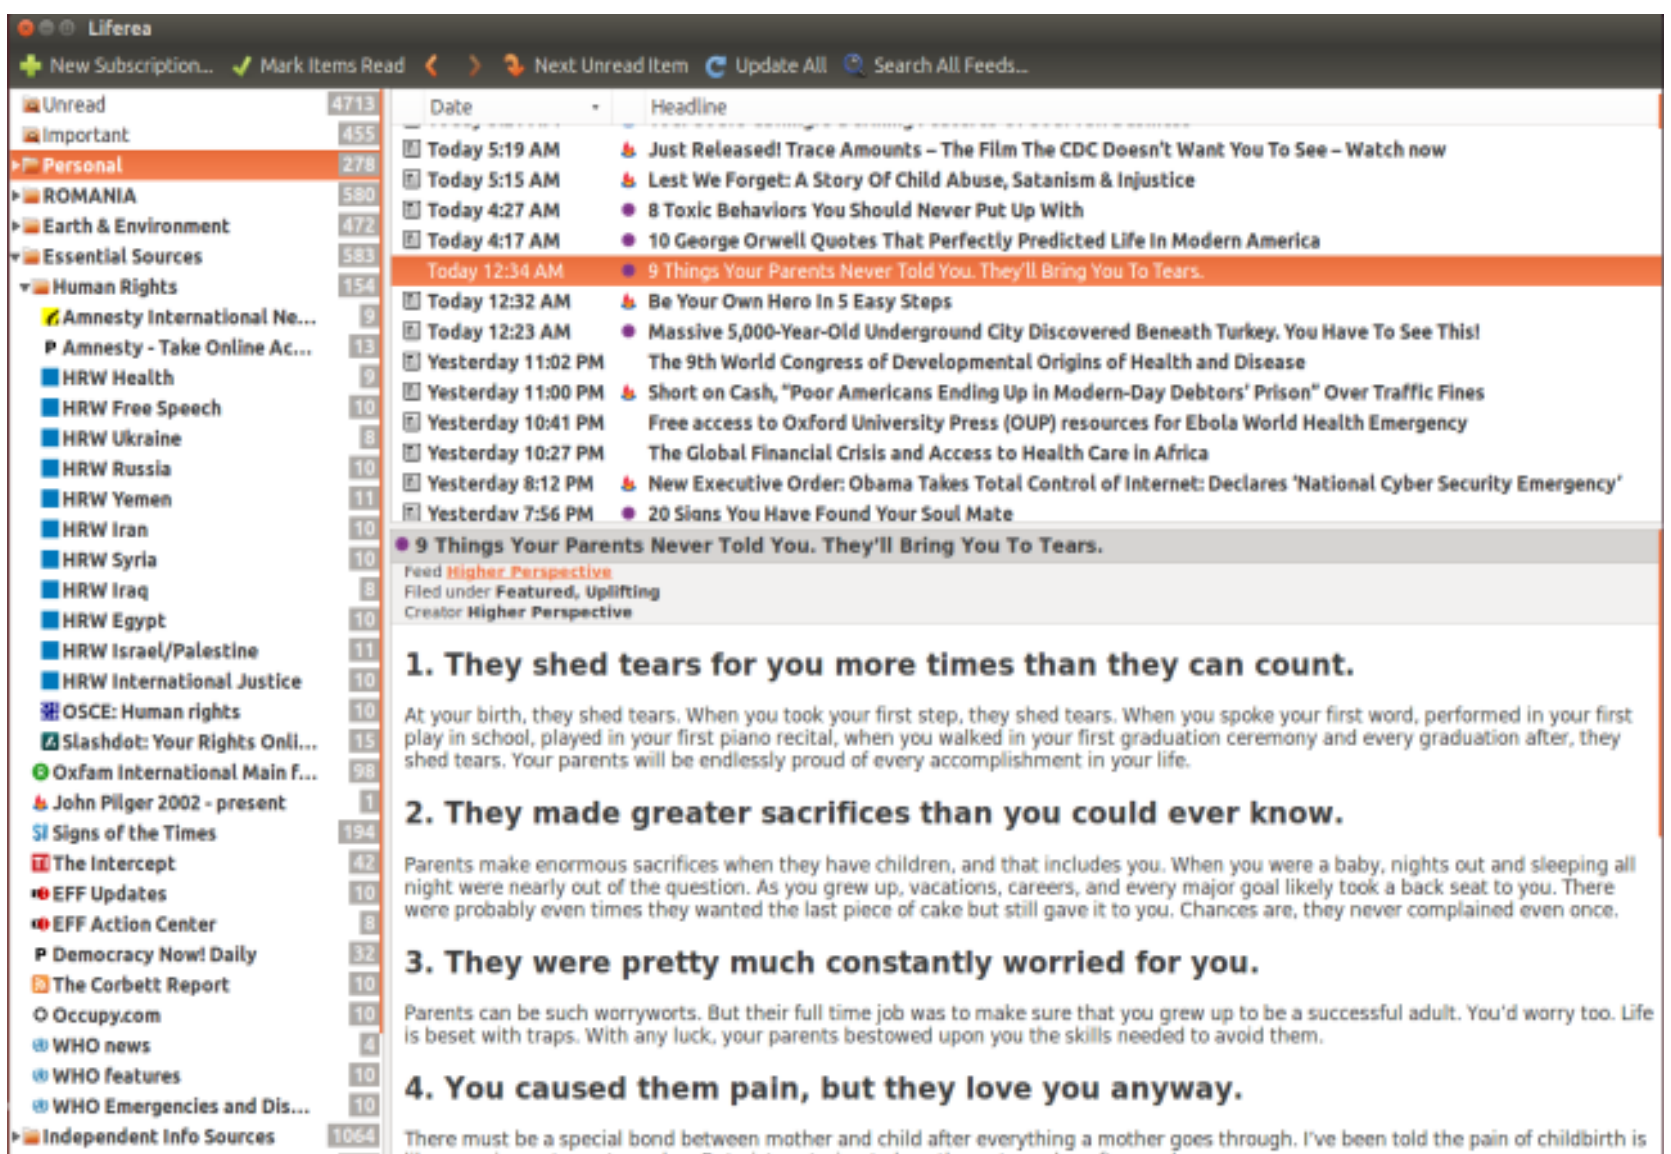

Bizarro World (<http://www.sott.net/article/291441-Bizarro-World>) we live in...I'm writing this as part of my "how-to" practical tutorial series and it focuses on the Top200 RSS information sources I'm actively using to keep up to date with the global agenda and with local developments in Roumania, Europe and the world. Please note that unless you're a researcher, you most likely don't need all of these sources for a "normal" periodical update, therefore feel free to select only the sources you like/require. The reason why I'm using so many sources is because for the last 5 months I've been working on/off on an independent (secondary) research project. Since "all the easy problems have already been solved", I decided to try and compile a map and a report on: Highly Dangerous Global Trends & Risks to humanity. I self-started this personal project in 2014 and my goal was (and is) to:

1. Analyse public data & media info which may be related to major threats to the well-being of people living on Earth, with a focus on Europe, particularly Roumania and Eastern Europe;
2. Identify dangerous trends, sort and rank the main threats in the following categories: Environment, Human Society, Economy, Geo-politics and Technology;
3. Attempt to produce accurate ethical insights which reflect the real truth, and not some profit-driven agenda (e.g. corporate/academic/governmental/private-driven agenda);
4. Suggest viable ethical solutions using my existing and newly gained knowledge.

Therefore, in the last 5 months I read a fair amount of info from multiple sources (many of them didn't actually make this list because of their too strong bias), and what you see below is my curated list of balanced-bias information sources. While my self-driven purpose is to find as much factual information as possible about what's really going on, I'm well aware that the complexity is enormous and I can only cover a tiny percentage. However, based on my progress to date, I think I'm on the right track, so with a bit of luck I'm hoping to publish my first draft with my findings in the next couple of weeks.

Now to get to the “how-to” part, please note that all the web-links below are for an RSS news aggregator (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/News_aggregator). (i.e. Firefox’s Live Bookmarks or Thunderbird (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mozilla_Thunderbird) or Liferea (<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Liferea>)). For a comparison between the available RSS news aggregators please see this Wiki page (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Comparison_of_feed_aggregators). And if you’ve never used RSS feeds, then you may want to see this short tutorial for Thunderbird (<http://www.howtogeek.com/79995/subscribe-to-rss-feeds-mozillas-thunderbird/>). (the principle is the same for all aggregators). So why am I using RSS? At first because RSS is the most efficient way to quickly go through 100s of articles per hour, and considering my goal and scope, time is of the essence. For those who are not familiar with news aggregators, please see the RSS benefits listed below (and for more info visit tutorialspoint (<http://www.tutorialspoint.com/rss/rss-advantages.htm>)):

- Save time by not visiting each site individually.
- Control the flow and quality of information you receive.
- View and scan multiple content streams simultaneously.
- Ensure your privacy by preventing the need to join each site’s e-mail newsletter.
- Obtain fresh content automatically, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
- Avoid missing information if you forget to check a certain site.
- No ads (a well-configured hosts file (<http://www.securemecca.com/hosts.html>) helps. alt1 (<http://www.malwaredomainlist.com/hostslist/hosts.txt>); alt2 (<http://winhelp2002.mvps.org/hosts.htm>)).
- All news sources in one place. For example:

So now without further ado, my Top200 RSS info sources for ethical activism and global research are:
