

M5

The makerspace for Electrical Engineering and Computer Systems Engineering undergraduates at UMass Amherst.

Win an internship at CERN

🕒 27 September 2015 📁 Uncategorized 👤 cbmalloch

If you are a monster coder, you might be interested in this contest to streamline code used in a project to simulate the human brain. CERN and Intel are putting on the competition; whoever submits the fastest equivalent code will win either a visit or an internship at CERN. It's not directly ECE, but I know some denizens of M5 who are mighty good codeslingers. <http://hackaday.com/2015/09/23/win-an-internship-at-cern-openlab/>